

Young Sung, Kim (Korea)

Young Sung Kim, graduated at Korea University in 2009, and obtained a Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) degree at Korea University in 2019, is an assistant professor at the department of Anesthesia and PainMedicine, Korea University Guro Hospital.

His area of interests includes pediatric anesthesia, pharmacometrics and neuroanesthesia. He has published dozens of articles and has received several awards at various academic conferences.

Now, he has various roles as a general affairs director of Korean Society for Anesthetic Pharmacology (previously served as a director of publication in 2022), a member of Specialty Examination Committee of the Korean Society of Anesthesiologists, a member of Subspecialty Committee of the Korean Society of Anesthesiologists, an editor of Anesthesia and Pain Medicine, and a member of Scientific Committee of the Korean Society of Pediatric Anesthesiologists.

