

Rebecca Margolis, D.O., FAOCA

Dr. Rebecca Margolis practices Pediatric Anesthesiology at Children's Hospital Los Angeles and presently serves as an assistant professor of clinical anesthesia and as the inaugural Director of Well-Being in the Department of Anesthesiology Critical Care Medicine. She serves as the Founder and Co-Chair of the Society for Pediatric Anesthesia's Committee for Physician Well-Being where she aims to enable systems-based approaches to make healthcare a more sustainable career choice. Dr. Margolis serves as an American Board of Anesthesiology Oral Board Examiner and enjoys collaborating on other national committees including the American Society of Anesthesiology's Committee on Physician Well-Being. Her research interests include clinician sustainability, obstructive sleep apnea and medical education.

Dr. Margolis received her undergraduate degree from New York University, her medical degree from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine and completed her anesthesia residency at Virginia Commonwealth University. Her fellowship in pediatric anesthesiology was obtained at Children's Hospital Los Angeles.